

The Flexible Urban Structure Creating to Modernization of Industrial Areas

Nadezda Starkova

Pacific National University
Russia
architect.stark@gmail.com

Irina Grin

Pacific National University
Russia
grinirina@gmail.com

Abstract

The article considers analyzes of the Development strategy to Khabarovsk city and a new Master Plan, which influence to perspective of the industrial areas modernization. The new polycentric dynamic model of the Khabarovsk development gives impetus to renovation and modernization of industrial areas. The multi-core and flexible urban structure provides the industrial zone renovation of the Khabarovsk city central area.

Keywords: modernization, industrial areas, urban structure, development, the urban environment flexibility